About the speaker:

Devendra, is an excellent example of academician turned successful entrepreneur. An alumnus of IITKGP, Devendra holds a BTech (prestigious B C Roy Gold medal winner of his batch) and DIT from Mechanical and Production engineering from IITKGP.

Later he went on to get his MS in OR from Purdue University, USA.

Eventually with a degree in MBA from Butler University, USA, he forayed into the field of technology and innovation in the Hollywood entertainment industry. After successfully heading some pivotal position in fortune 500 companies in his time, he decided to retire early at the age of 50 and give back to the community. Hailing from India, being a man of color, he could successfully establish himself as a successful entrepreneur out of his strong academic background, determination and vision.
